THE HUM OF INDUSTRY.

A STROLL THROUGH THE SHOPS OF THE BLOOMSBURG FURNITURE COMPANY.

On Wednesday morning as the sun shone brightly, and the balmy air of spring was most inviting, a reporter of THE COLUMBIAN was lured from his den, and started out for a walk, and to gather news by the way. That he might visit one of the industries of "New Bloomsburg," he turned his footsteps toward the plant of the Bloomsburg Furniture Company, where he was first met by Mr. Theodore Redeker who very kindly showed him through the shops and explained the different processes of manufacturing furniture.

The plant consists of two brick buildings 50 by 100 feet in dimensions each two stories in height, and one having a basement wherein are located the shafting and hot air pipes. The engine and boiler house contain an engine of 85 horse power, and boilers of 100 horse power. By an automatic arrangement of pipes all shavings and sawdust are conveyed from the machines where they are made directly into the fire box under the boilers, thus avoiding their accumulation and at the seme time providing fuel.

The dry kiln will hold 30,000 feet of lumber, and a very economical system of handling the lumber has been adopted. The lumber is unloaded directly from the cars on the D. L. & W. R. R., on to transfer trucks, which are run into the dry kiln and when ready for use the trucks are run out at the other end of the kiln into the factory and unloaded at any point desired. Or the trucks can be run directly from the cars to any part of the factory without going in the kiln.

One building contains most of the machinery on the first floor consisting of planers, polishers, band-saws carvers, lock-cutters, dove-tailers and everything else in the way of modern machinery used in first class furniture factories. On the second floor is the cabinet department where the furniture is put together. The two buildings are about 100 feet apart, and connected by an elavated railway. The building nearest town contains the office, packing room, ware-room and polish room on the first floor, and the tilling and varnish rooms on the second floor. The ground covers ten town lots. The buildings have an excellent system of fire protection. Water pipes are run all through, and every five feet is a sprinkler which, in case of fire is put in operation by the melting of a soft piece of metal that melts at a heat of 160 degrees.

The rapidty with which this plant has been erected is remarkable. Ground was broken on October 1st, 1891, and every thing was completed, and the first car load of goods shipped on March 16th, 1892. This is a record for a new factory that is hard to beat.

The water for fire protection is supplied from a tank on a trestling about 50 feet high. The water comes from the mains of the Water Company.

At present they are making several different grades of bed-steads, sideboards and chiffoniers. The line will be gradually enlarged until they include full sets of furniture of all kinds. Forty five hands are employed.

The members of the company are Theodore Redeker, President, W. H. Schuyler, Secretary and Treasurer, and J. E Keifer, Superintendent.

Mr. Schuyler was employed by J. K. Rishel at Hughesville for 8 years as book-keeper and manager. Rishel's furniture factory is the largest one in that section. Mr. Schuyler is therefore thoroughly acquainted with the business and is a thoroughly competent man for the position he holds. He is a married man and has one child. He resides in the house of John Wagonseller on North Main street.

Mr. Redeker was also with J. K. Rishel for some years as designer, carver and foreman, and he is considered one of the best men in his line, to be found. His designs are original and beautiful, and the work is finished perfectly under his supervision. He is a married man and has four children, and resides on East street.

Mr. Kiefer was formerly in the retail furniture business at Hughesville. He has always been a successful business man and a good manager, and like his partners, has enjoyed the respect and confidence of the people where he has resided. He is in every way qualified for his duties as Superintendent. He resides in the Wagon seller house.

Among their trusted employees are W. W. Achenbach, foreman of the machine department, who was foreman in J. K. Rishel's factory for 13 years, and is not surpassed as a mechanic. Jacob Mutchler, foreman of the finishing department, is a man of large experience, having formerly been foreman in the factories of Burrows Bros. and the Hughesville Furniture Company.

John Gray is the engineer.

We were shown the order book of the company. The first order was received January 27th, and since then orders have been coming in rapidly and increasing in size. Purchasers are duplicating their orders, showing that the goods have given entire satisfaction. The bonds of this company, on which payment is guaranteed by the Bloomsburg Land improvement Co. are considered one of the best investments in this region.

The Furniture Company is yet in its infancy, but it bids fair to soon become one of our most important industries.

EASTER SERVICES.

St. Paul's Church contained not less than five hundred people on Sunday morning at 6:30 o'clock. Shortly after the beautiful chime of bells had ceased at 6 o'clock the church began to fill up, and the congregation was seated by the ushers, Messrs. John Harman, Frank Wilson, A. W. Duy, and Alfred Grotz. Most of those who arrived just before the services began were compelled to stand, as the seats were all occupied. At 6:30 the choir of men and boys numbering 19, entered from the Parish House singing "The strife is over, the battle won," followed by the Rector, and proceeded up the centre aisle to the chancel. The programme as published last week was sung, without a break. It was an imposing sight, and the entire service was the most impressive ever witnessed in this town.

The church was well filled also at 10:30, when the Rector preached an excellent sermon appropriate to the occasion. In the evening the Sunday School held its Easter service.

The Easter offerings of the Sunday School amounted to nearly one hundred dollars ($99.77) and represented self-denial, painstaking and actual work on the part of the boys and girls, many having exerted themselves in various ways to earn money for their Missionary offerings. The offerings of the congregation at the 6:30 and 10:30 A. M. services amounted to $85.50.

The music at the Presbyterian Church at 10.30 was rendered by a double quartette choir, consisting of Misses Beth Runyon, Annie Jameson, Mary Miller, Lizzie Gruver, Messrs. A.N. Yost, Edward W. Walton, Samuel Bidleman and Clyde Yetter.

The selections were all very pretty, and exceedingly well rendered. The pastor preached an excellent sermon.

EASTER AT THE LUTHERAN CHURCH.

Last Sunday was a glorious day at the Lutheran church. The early services at half past six was attended by a great crowd, the basement of the church was entirely filled, and a delightful hour passed. At nine o'clock the Sunday school room was nearly filled with bright smiling faces, and when the hour for morning services arrived (10:30) the church could not seat the people. At the pulpit there was an arch of gas jets with the words "God is Love," over a cross of lillies, resting upon a bed of ferns, geraniums coleius and lillies. Two children were presented for baptism; and 6 adults received into the church by confirmation, 1 by baptism; 10 were received by letter and right hand of fellowship. Over 300 partook of the Lord's Supper.

The cold weather has been hanging on well, but the farmers are getting their ground ready for sowing as soon as it gets warm again. Some have planted their potatoes already.

Rev. Tubbs, preached an able sermon to a well filled house on Sunday evening. Our church seems to be getting too small for the congregation that often times meet here. Perhaps a new and larger one would be a much needed improvement.

Judge Rhone of Wilkes-Barre has issued a third volume of Orphans' Court Practice.

REV. JOSEPH P. TUSTIN.

After an illness of several months, Rev. J. P. Tustin passed peacefully away on Easter Sunday morning at 4 o'clock. He was born January 23, 1830, in Philadelphia and was one of ten children. He was educated at Lewisburg University, and entered the ministry of the Baptist Church. He was employed in the old Northumberland Bank, and moved from there to Bloomsburg in March 1864 resigning the office of Asst. Cashier to assume the position of Cashier of the First National Bank, at its organization. He held that position up to the time of his death, and through his careful and judicious management it has become one of the most solid financial institutions in this section. For many years he was pastor of the Baptist church, and subsequently supplied the pulpit when there was no pastor. He also had charge of the Baptist church in Jackson township for several years and held services at Brier Creek and Madison. He was a quiet unassuming man, and a most devout follower of the Lord, and an earnest worker in every movement that was calculated to improve the morals and elevate the religious sentiment of the community. He was a trustee of the Lewisburg University.

The widow survives him, and also the following children.

Mary Tustin, clerk in the First National Bank, George M. Tustin, Cashier of the Catawissa National Bank, Mrs. Robert R. Little, A. Lincoln Tustin, assistant in the Catawissa Bank, Ruth, Edward B, Teller in the bank, and Paul who is a student at Yale Divinity School preparing for the Baptist ministry.

The funeral was held at the house at half past one on Wednesday, and the services were conducted by Rev. G. M. Weeks assisted by all the clergymen of the town. There were also present and participating, Rev. Dr. Harris, President of Bucknell University, Rev. Mr. Monroe of White Hall, and Rev. Mr. Crawford of Hughesville. As a mark of respect to the deceased all places of business were closed during the funeral, and the attendance was large. In his death the bank has lost a valued officer, the church has lost one of its principal mainstays, and the community one of its best and most highly respected citizens. The bereaved family have the heartfelt sympathy of all.

At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the First National Bank at 9 o'clock a. m. on April 18th, the following resolutions were adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased the creator and father of us all, to remove from among us, our esteemed friend and Co-worker, Mr. Joseph P. Tustin, whose death we greatly deplore; Therefore, be it Resolved, that in his death this institution sustains a great loss; the church a loyal and loving supporter; the community a wise and worthy citizen; the home a dear husband and a kind father:

Resolved, that we hereby extend to the bereaved family and friends, our sincere sympathy in their sad affliction:

Resolved, further, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family and the press for publication.

SCHOOL BOARD.

The regular monthly meeting of the School Board was held in the Library room Thursday evening of last week, with all members present except Mr. Brown. The report of the principal was read which showed seven hundred and forty pupils in attendance; and that preparation is being made for the the examinations at the close of term. The senior class numbers eleven and it is hoped most of them can pass the examination. Considerable of time was devoted to the selection of an appropriate diploma for the graduates. M. C. Woodward, collector was present with a list of exonerations for delinquent taxes for the past year; after a careful examination, the exorerations, with a few exceptions, were allowed.

There is less than three weeks still remaining before the close of our public schools. Parents should visit the schools and see the work done Visitations have been greater this year than ever before, one teacher reports that over 90 persons have visited her room this year. Every parent should visit the schools at least once during the year.

THE MASTERY OF LOVE.

Love was a stranger,
Without lock or key
He unlocked my bosom
And took my heart from me.
Now my heart is subject
Everywhere I go.
Be a gentle master, Love,
To one who loves you so.

In a few days and weeks,
In a few months or years,
Love brought me sorrow,
And the salt, salt tears.
Oh, Love, come with laughter,
Or, Love, come with woe,
Deal but gently with the heart
That leans upon you so.

The bee's wing is fragile,
The lark's egg is small,
That you took was little,
But it was my all.
Bear the captive where you will,
To high estate or low,
But be a gentle master, Love,
To one who loves you so.

—Dora Read Goodale, in Harper's Weekly.

MR. BELCHER'S PIES.

All men, or nearly all, have an idea that housekeeping is one of the easiest things in the world. I thought so myself once, but I think so no longer, having had a sad experience in one of its departments. I now look upon a housekeeper as a long-suffering, patient creature. Her work is never done simply because it is forever undoing itself again.

My wife was slowly recovering from a long and severe illness; our girl had left without any warning a week before Thanksgiving, and as we lived about twenty miles out of Boston, it was next to an impossibility to get another. I had managed to keep things going, although the bill of fare was rather monotonous, steak, toast and tea appearing more frequently than we desired. Not that we had such a fondness for steak, but is so easy to cook.

We were congratulating ourselves on the fact that we had invited no one to share our Thanksgiving dinner, when the Tuesday before Thanksgiving day my wife received a note from a young cousin in Boston, announcing that she would spend Thursday with us, as we had asked her so many times to vist us whenever she got an opportunity.

She further said that she was longing for a piece of good mince pie; never except in dreams had she tasted such delicious mince pies as "dear Martha" made.

After reading this gushing epistle to me, "dear Martha" said,—

"Now, Joe Belcher, what on earth am I to do? I like Jenny very much, but I wish she wasn't coming this week, of all times. She will arrive here at ten o'clock Thursday morning, and we can't give her steak to eat every time she comes to the table. However, for Thursday's dinner you might manage to cook a turkey and some vegetables, if you will do just as I tell you; but oh, dear! what shall I do about the mince pies? I would not offer Jenny a Thanksgiving dinner without them."

"Why don't you buy some at the bake shop?" I suggested.

A glance of withering scorn rewarded me.

"Just what a man would say, and yet they are the first to rail at baker's trash. Mince pies, of all pies in the world, must be well made, and, you know, I have always prided myself upon mine."

Although I had been so severely snubbed, with all the bravery or conceit of my sex I came to the front once more.

"Now Martha," I said cheerfully, "you write explicit directions for making mince pies, and I will try my hand."

Peals of laughter were the only reply she gave me for a second, then:

"Why, Joe, you make mince pies! Oh, what fun! You know you have burnt the steak to a cinder every day, and yesterday when you tried to make a cake to surprise me, it looked more like a square of yellow flannel than anything. I don't believe you ever saw a pie being made."

"You forget, my dear," I answered blandly, "that the first day I made love to you, you were making mud pies."

No notice was taken of this brilliant remark. Martha was deeply thinking, with a very downcast countenance.

"Well," with a sigh, "it is the only thing to be done. We must have mince pies. Just give me paper and pencil and I will write the directions. You get the meat and put it on to boil, and then I will help you stone the raisins; but this will be the first time I made mincemeat one day and used it the next."

Under her directions, which were sometimes difficult to follow, I managed to get the mincemeat "fairly good" as Martha said.

It was nearly twelve o'clock before I laid my aching bones to rest, and dreamed all night that somebody was flogging me, and that I was to be buried in mincemeat. I did not exactly "rise with the lark," in fact, it was after nine next morning when I awoke. How I envied the men who had nothing to do but get up, and saunter down to breakfast and read the papers. To have to get one's own breakfast is anything but bliss; but when pie paste to be made stares one in the face, it is enough to make a saint swear.

Martha was rather low in her mind about it.

"The paste is the worst part," she said. "I am so afraid it won't be short, and tough pie paste is awful."

"Don't worry," I said. "I think the hardest part is done."

Armed with my recipe I descended to the kitchen. The order and cleanliness of that apartment needs no description, when you hear that I had reigned supreme there for a week. I think I can safely say every dish and pan in the house was full or dirty. I put on an apron, got the paste board and roller out, then proceeded to mix flour, water, butter, and salt together. What could be easier than that? My hopes went up, and I began to whistle "Annie Rooney." When it was, as I thought, all right, I put it on the board and began to roll it out.

It stuck to the board, to the rolling pin and to my hands. What could be the matter? I must look at the recipe. Where did I put it? At last I found it, but there was nothing in it about sticking.

At last I went to the door and called to Martha and explained the situation.

"Why," she said, "you must put flour on the board, and not have it too wet."

Whe I went back to the scene of action I found that the flour had the desired effect. I gayly rolled it out, and then paused. What next? The paste on the board was about the size of, and resembled, the continent of North America. I found the recipe and read on it, "Have your pie plates greased and in readiness."

"Well, if that isn't like a woman!" I thought. "If I ever write a cook book, I shall head every recipe, 'Have your pan greased in readiness.' The idea of putting the thing which should come first, last."

Well, after getting the two plates, I came back and found that my paste had shrunk to the size of the State of Rhode Island, and when I got it on the plate, a two-cent postage stamp would have covered the whole business. I stretched it out, put the mincemeat in, got the cover on, and popped it into the oven.

I rested a bit before I tackled pie number two, and gazed on the festive scene. Flour was scattered in every part of that kitchen, and every time my back was turned, Pickles (the cat) helped himself to mincemeat.

Well, I started in again, but with not quite so much energy and hopefulness as before. I went through the shrinking experience, and only had enough to cover the bottom of the plate. However, I put the mincemeat in, and put that pie in the oven. People make squash pies without a cover, then why not mince pies?

I called out to my wife:

"Martha, you were afraid that the paste wouldn't be short enough, weren't you?"

"Yes, Joe. What is the matter?"

"Nothing. You needn't be afraid no longer; the paste was so confoundedly short that the second pie had to go into the oven bald-headed."

SPRING ARBOR DAYS.

His Excellency, Governor Pattison, having designated Thursday, April 14th, and Friday, May 6th, as Arbor Days, in accordance with the request of the Legislature, the attention of school Superintendents, Directors and Teachers is invited to the fact.

No school in Pennsylvania can afford to ignore a day commended to it by both the Legislative and the Executive branches of government, by the greatest educational body in the United States, the National Educational Association—in 1884, at Madison, Wisconsin—and observed in thirty-nine States and Territories. This concurrence of opinion at once indicates that a proper observance of the day must be of great educational value even where the school grounds may be as full as they ought to be of trees, shrubs and vines.

A little reflection will convince a teacher that the day is needed by his school. The prime ends of education are character and power. The refining of character through intimate acquaintance with the vegetable world needs no comment. Her process and products awaken the admiration of the superficial observer, and command the reverence of the most profound. The great modern innovation is the introduction of Bacon's method into the school room. The children are to be educated not away from their surroundings but into sympathy with them, and thus into the ability to use them advantageously. It is well, too, for the school when the pupils find that, once at last, it moves in accord with the feelings aroused by the genial sunshine, the smell of the fresh earth, the balmy breeze, the budding spring. The day is to be observed primarly to stimulate the children in all their powers of thought, feeling and purpose, through the incomparable agency of the vegetable world. It is to be observed to promote the attractiveness of our surroundings and the love of home and of country. It is to be used to interest the people in the protection of Nature in her efforts to reclothe the mountains and waste places, and to interest them in economic tree planting. It has already promoted the planting of thousands of acres, in our own and neighboring States. tens of thousands upon Cape Cod and elsewhere, and hundred of thousands in the treeless regions of the Great West.

Newspapers may be invited to aid the work by publishing selections in prose and verse appropriate to the day, by suggesting what and how to plant, and by arousing the public to consider the interests represented. The excellent Arbor Day Manual, by Asst. Supt. Charles R. Skinner, of New York, which is published by Weed, Parsons & Co., of Albany, is the largest work yet prepared. Arbor Day Leaves, by N. H. Egleton, of the Division and Forestry of the United States Department of Agriculture, published by the American Book Company, and a circular upon the Celebration of Arbor Day, issued by the United States Bureau of Education, are excellent aids. The United States Department of Agriculture, has also issued from the Forestry Division, Circular No. 5, entitled, "Arbor Day Planting in Eastern States" This answers the questions, What and How to plant, and can be had, as can that upon the celebration of the day, issued by the General Government, upon application to the proper Department.

Superintendents are requested to report to this Department the record of the trees planted by the schools during the year.

MONEY

Wisely invested will soon double itself, and there are often as many elements of safety surrounding a good paying investment as one that pays small dividends. The earning capacity of every investment is the foundation of dividends. To further increase the business, $80,000 of the Treasury Stock is offered until March 15th, at par, $10 per share. Price of stock will be advanced February 18th to take effect on above date. NEAR POTTSGROVE, PA.,—I cannot say too much for your Liquid Extract of Smoke. It is excellent and will do just what you recommend; easily applied, less trouble and expense, and can hang it in a more secure place than a smoke house, and gives the meat a good flavor, better than you can get from wood, and keeps it solid and entirely free from insects. Do You Swear?

Few people are aware that even in the innocent little mind-relieving expressions which the circumspect allow themselves in moments of pain, anger or astonishment are in reality but corruptions of oaths or disguised profanity, says the St. Louis Republic. I once heard a man say, "Even clergymen swear" I asked him what he meant, and he replied: "Ministers say 'oh, dear,' and 'dear' as used in that way is really a corruption of the French Dieu, God. Mon Dieu of France has become 'oh, dear' in English."

Take that innocent word "pshaw" is from the Spanish ajalla, Portuguese oxalla, which words, from the gutteral quality of the j and x, are pronounced much like "pshaw." The Portuguese form is pronounced "oh psharlla," giving us very nearly the English "oh, pshaw." Ajalla and oxalla are derived from the Arabic and are relics of the Moorish occupation of Spain and Portugal. The final alla is the familiar Arabic Allah, God. The original expression is Mashallah, "would to God."

Some Kinds of Kisses.

HOW THIS UNEXPLAINABLE THING IS SANCTIFIED BY LOVE.

Whatever a kiss be, there is but one thing that sanctifies it, one thing that should permit it, one that should demand it, and that is love. Not necessarily the love of a sweet heart; it may be the love of friendship, providing it be not a friendship between man and woman: the love existing in a family.

Is not that kiss a mockery which one woman gives another when meeting, when but a few momens before she had been gossiping about the one she now salutes? We are thankful that at last fashion has taken it in hand and frees us from the gushing women who saluted us on all occasions with a kiss. We are glad that the custom of presenting the cheek in preference to the lips is becoming popular. It is a custom brought home by the foreign school girl and the convent-bred girl of our land.

The girl who has been taught to offer the cheek upon all occasions who has received a kiss on her brow, as a great honor, will not be so apt to give her lips to the first knight who comes a-wooing; the first man who flirts with her. She will know that her lips should only be kissed by one that she is sure loves her alone, and to whom alone she has given her heart.

We are told that the jealous Greek made his wife eat onions before she went from home. I wonder if she made him smoke cigarettes, drink beer and eat cheese when he went on his wanderings.

But truly the old Greek knew how to protect his wife's lips. One-half the pleasure of a kiss is in its fragrance—the illusive sweetness that makes a child's face so tempting and alluring—From Music and Drama.

SENATOR HERRING AND THE TAX BILL.

EDITORS COLUBIAN :—

Realizing that a false impression exists among certain farmers of this county as to my position on the question of Equalization of Taxation, I am persuaded that a few words upon this subject will not be amiss at this time. I make the statement now.

FIRST.—Because I am not a candidate for any office, and second, because it cannot be charged that I am doing it to gain personal favor ; my only object being to correct, if possible, a false impression created and fostered by political enemies.

I have no apology to make for having voted against what was known in the last session of the Legislature, as the "Taggart Tax Bill." I voted against that Bill because I believed it was unconstitutional and, in part, at least, burdensome and inquisitorial. I was not alone in that belief, but was joined by other democrats who not only voted against the Bill but spoke against it.

Senator George Ross, the leader on the democratic side, made the most vigorous speech against the Bill that was made during the session. Among other things, he said, [See Legislative Record, Vol I, 1891, pg. 2630]

"Now, Sir, representing an agricultural district; answerable for my vote up on this subject to my constituents, who are among the farmer class in this community to a very great extent, I say this Bill does them great injustice, and that no Senator speaking in the interests of farmers will dare to vote for this amendment of the Senator from Westmoreland."

It is a singular coincidence that the three democratic Senators Ross, Hall and myself, recently selected by the State Convention as Delegates at-Large to the National Convention at Chicago were three of those who voted against this substitution.

And besides this, it was an open secret at Harrisburg, last winter that certain republican Senators were using their best efforts to place the Governor in a false light upon this very question. The scheme was this.

By joining with certain democrats who were honest in their belief that the democratic Senators should favor the "Taggart Bill" for political reasons enough votes could be secured to send the Bill to the Governor in such an imperfect shape that he would be compelled to veto it. The cry could then be raised that a democratic Governor was against Equalization of Taxation and all the blame be placed upon his shoulders.

Had not these plans been forseen by certain democratic Senators, myself among the number, the scheme would, no doubt, have gone through, and I feel justified in saying that I had positive, direct and reliable information that if the Senate should pass the "Taggert Bill" as it was proposed, that the Governor would be compelled to veto it on the ground of its unconstitutionality, if for no other reason.

The friends of the bill refused to alter it. Along with other democratic Senators I then felt it my duty to refuse to vote for the Bill in the shape it then was. In other words, the position we took is to be accounted for on two grounds.

FIRST. Because the bill was in itself faulty.

SECOND. Because we were unwilling that Governor Pattison should be placed in a false light upon this vital question. Like Senator Ross and the Governor himself I believe that land bears an undue burden of taxes, that corporations do not bear their share, that a revision of the tax laws is necessaay. I am willing to concede that the "Taggert Bill" had many commendable features.

But I know that it contained much that should have been stricken out, and the friends of the Bill in their vain efforts at forcing it upon the people in its crude and imperfect shape and refusing to allow reasonable and, as we deemed necessary, amendments thereto, succeeded in becoming the worst enemies to the Bill, and its failure to become a law can be attributed direct to them.

It is simply a piece of political demagogism to assert that all those who voted against the "Taggert Bill" were enemies to the Equlization of Taxation, and before any man should attempt to criticize such a vote, let him first post himself as to what the Bill contained at the time it was offered to the Senate for its approval.

How many of you have ever read the Bill or know what it contains? Be slow to blame, therefore, when you have nothing to guide you but the base misrepresentations of political demagogues who live and thrive upon the deceptions they practice upon other people.

GRANT HERRING.

April 20th, 1892.

WHY DID THEY DO IT.

By the decisive vote of 19 to 12 the Democratic County committee adopted the following resolution on February 12.

"Resolved, by the Standing Committee of Columbia county in Convention assembled, that we instruct our delegates to the state convention to vote for and use all honorable means to elect Hon. Grant Herring as one of the delegates-at-large to the National Convention, believing that Columbia County with her large and steady democratic majority at all times for the democratic candidate,is entitled to representation at large in the National Convention."

By a bare majority of one, a similar resolution was adopted instructing them to vote for William Krickbaum or district delegate.

Notwithstanding the strongly expressed will of the people in favor of Senator Herring, we are informed by reliable authority, that A. D. Seely, Jesse Rittenhouse and Thomas Boran refused to vote for Senator Herring in committee meeting, and did all in their power to defeat his selection.

Rohr M'Henry and Dr. F. W. Redeker were true to their trust, and voted for him as instructed.

Fortunately the Senator had enough friends in the state to secure his nomination, despite the action of the three delegates from his own county, and he was chosen by a vote in the convention of which he may well feel proud, only three other persons securing a higher vote,though there were twenty four names before the convention. Senator Herring is a close friend to Governor Pattison, Secretary Harrity and attorney General Hensel, and it was their wish that he should be placed on the ticket as a delegate-at-large, and it was done.

The action of three delegates named can only be accounted for on the ground that Boss Krickbaum issued his mandate to them not to vote for Herring, and they dared not disobey. The orders of the boss were superior to the expressed will of the people, and the people were betrayed. It is well known that Krickbaum attempted to control delegates from other counties in the Senatorial district against Herring, but they were not his pliant tools, and his effort failed.

How much longer are such things to be permitted by the Democratic party of Columbia county? How long will they continue to keep in power and place a man who never hesitates to go against the expressed will of the party whenever it suits his own selfish purposes to do so? When a man who has held office for half a life time and drawn pay from the public advises and commands a violation of party instructions, he is establishing a very bad precedent, and one that might react upon himself.

The success of Hood's Sarsaparilla is because it possesses true merit, and no claim is made for it which is not fully supported.

COURT PROCEEDINGS.

Court met on Thursday, April 14, all the Judges present.

License of M. Q White at Espy was transferred to his widow.

J. C. Brown, John Welliver and Charles Harris appointed viewers of a road in Mt. Pleasant near C. L. Sands.

J. B. Knittle appointed commissioner in place of Matthew M'Reynolds who declined, in the division of Locust township into two election districts.

The importance of purifying the blood cannot be overestimated, for without pure blood you cannot enjoy good health.

At this season nearly every one needs a good medicine to purify, vitalize, and enrich the blood, and we ask you to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. It strengthens Peculiar and builds up the system, creates an appetite, and tones the digestion, while it eradicates disease. The peculiar combination, proportion, and preparation of the vegetable remedies used give to Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar curative powers. No other medicine has such a record of wonderful cures. If you have made up your mind to buy Hood's Sarsaparilla do not be induced to take any other instead. It is a Peculiar Medicine, and is worthy your confidence. To Itself

Hood's Sarsaparilla is sold by all druggists. Prepared by C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass.

100 Doses One Dollar

Ought to be smaller—the great, griping, old-fashioned pill. There's too much unpleasantness for the money. Ought to be better, too. They're big enough, and make trouble enough, to do more good.

That's just what Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets do,—more good. Instead of weakening the system, they renovate it; instead of upsetting, they cleanse and regulate it—mildly, gently, and naturally. They're the original Little Liver Pills—the smallest but most effective, purely vegetable, perfectly harmless, and easiest to take. Only one little Pellet for a gentle laxative—three for a cathartic. Sick Headache, Bilious Headache, Constipation, Indigestion, Bilious Attacks, and all derangements of the Liver, Stomach and Bowels are promptly relieved and permanently cured.

They're the cheapest pills you can buy, for they're guaranteed to give satisfaction, or your money is returned. You pay only for the good you get. It's a plan peculiar to Dr. Pierce's medicines.

Judge Rice Sustained.

THE SALOON MEN OF HAZLETON WILL PAY ONLY $150 LICENSE.

There are some saloon keepers in Hazleton who have reason to regret the fact that they didn't take out their licenses.

The Supreme Court has decided that the fee shall be only $150 and therefore County Treasurer McGroarty will have to refund $350.

The matter came up before the Supreme Court to day and that Court sustained the opinion of Judge Rice that the license fee should be but $150 instead of $500.

While it is a matter of some regret to know that the city will lose the amount of money it counted upon, still it shows the wisdom of C. W. Kline, Esq., in taking his clients' case to the Supreme Court and it proves that the opinion of Judge Rice can be counted upon as a clear and just exposition of the law.

ACADEMY OF MUSIC.

The Decker Brother's Minstrels, a big troupe, gave a fine entertainment at the Academy of Music last night. The audience, which was a large one, went to the Academy to listen to good music, take in a big pile of fun, and go home happy. They were not disappointed, and how could such be the case with such men in the company as Lew Benedict, J. M Woods, Ramsa, Arno and others of equal ability? Come again, gentleman, and you will receive a hearty welcome.—Gazette & Bulletin, Williamsport.

Bloomsburg Opera House, Friday, April 22nd. Admission 35 and 50 cts. No extra charge for reserved seats.

If you have horses, cattle, wagons, furniture or anything else that you want to sell, make it known to the Bloomsburg Bazar Co., Guy Jacoby, Treasurer, J. S. Williams, auctioneer, Bloomsburg, Pa.

ESPY.

C. R. Miller and wife from Plymouth spent Sunday at this place, among their friends.

"Sport" has arrived home from Cumberland, at which place he has been for some time employed.

Samuel Kressler our aged friend from Wilkesbarre, but formerly of this place has been paying us a visit during the past week.

An entertainment suitable for the occasion was given by the M. E. Sabbath School on Easter Sabbath morning.

MILLVILLE.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hawley of Northumberland spent Sunday at Wm. Masters. They came to see David Masters who has been sick for some time. Mrs. Hawley being a sister-in-law of David's.

Mr Leidecker of Jerseytown came near being killed at this place last Saturday. He stood talking till the train started and then made an attenpt to board the train, and would have fallen between the wheels but for the timely aid of Mr. Shaffer one of the employees.

Regina Rote of West town is visiting relatives and friends in town this week.

The new machine shop on Rail Road street is now in running order. Mr. Park the proprietor is a fine mechanic and perfect gentleman and all who patronize him may rest assured of fair and honest treatment.

F. W. Heller is making some improvements around his property by taking down the yard fence and changing the garden site.

Several of our townsfolks went to Bloomsburg last Tuesday to attend the funeral of Anna Appleman.

Some of our townsmen have lots of lip, if one can judge of looks. Hiram and Spud can answer for themselves.

House and yard cleaning seem to be the thing just now and one and all are doing their best in competition with their neighbors.

Patent medicines differ—One has reasonableness, another has not. One has reputation—another has not. One has confidence, born of success—another has only "hopes."

Don't take it for granted that all patent medicines are alike. They are not. Let the years of uninterrupted success and the tens of thousands of cured and happy men and women, place Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription on the side of the comparison to which they belong. And there isn't a state or territory, no—nor hardly a country in the world, whether its people realize it or not, but have men and women in them that're happier because of their discovery and their effects.

Think of this in health. Think of it in sickness. And then think whether you can afford to make a trial if the makers can afford to take the risk to give your money back, as they do, if they do not benefit or cure you.

When to Catch Fish.

Trout, April 15 to July 15; salmon, April 15 to July 15, bass, May 30 to January 1; pike, June 1 to December 1; carp, September 1 to May 1.

We are sorry to be called upon to record the death of Miss Anna, daughter of I. K. Appleman who resides on the Light-street road, on the farm formerly owned by Dr. Kinney. She was but nineteen years of age, and would have graduated in the Senior class at the Normal School in June. Death is never a welcome visitor, but it seems peculiarly sad when those who have just reached an age when life seems brightest to them, are cut off in the flower of youth. Mr. and Mrs. Appleman have the profound sympathy of many friends in their affliction. There was no session at the Normal, and a delegation of students accompanied the remains to the Kitchen cemetery in Mount Pleasant, where the burial took place. There were some beautiful floral offerings. The members of the Faculty, the Senior Class and other students attended the funeral. The services were conducted by Rev. Mr. Ferguson

At a meeting of the Senior Class of State Normal School held April 16th, the following resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS,—It has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom to call from our midst our beloved classmate, Anna M. Appleman, and

WHEREAS,—Her untimely death renders it fitting that we should give some expression of our feelings of this sad event, therefore be it

Resolved,—That while we deeply feel the loss of our beloved classmate, we bow in meek submission to the will of Him who doeth all things, well.

Resolved,—That we tender our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved father sister and brother, and for consolation can point them only to our Heavenly Father, who alone can heal every wound he makes.

Resolved,—That we, in a body, attend the funeral services.

Resolved,—That a copy of these resolutions be presented the father of the deceased, and also to each of the Bloomsburg papers for publication.

I suffered from acute inflammation in my nose and head—for a week at a time I could not see. I used Ely's Cream Balm and in a few days I was cured. It is wonderful how quick it helped me.—Mrs. Georgie S. Judson, Hartford, Conn.

For three weeks I was suffering from a severe cold in my head, accompanied by a pain in my temples. Ely's Cream Balm was recommended to me. After only six applications of the Balm every trace of my cold was removed.—Henry C. Clark, New York appraiser's Office. 4-15-2t

WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, April 18, 1892.

The anti-Harrison republican Senators are well nigh at the end of their wits. The trouble is that they can find no one to fight Harrison with. After the withdrawal of Cullum some of them thought that Alger might fill the bill, and he was sent for to talk the matter over. He has been here several days, but he hasn't made much progress; on the contrary he has got to the end of his rope, as he has been told that after mature consideration it had been decided that the little episode concerning his war record had made him an impossibility, and that the best thing he could do would be to withdraw. This has almost broken Alger's heart, but he has promised to withdraw. Ex Czar Reed could have the support of the anti-Harrison men, if it were not for Mr. Blaine's opposition to him; it has been tendered to McKinley but he would not accept it. Secret conferences are being nightly held, but the indications are not favorable to the anti's, at least not from the outside.

"Teddy" Roosevit made a ten strike when that resolutton authorizing an investigation of the violation of the civil service law (charged by him in a report made last year to Mr. Harrison) by Federal officials in Baltimore was introduced in the House. He has long been trying to find out why Mr. Harrison pigeon-holed that report. The House Committee on Rules will let Mr. Harrison say why no action was ever taken on that report, and then, if the answer is not satisfactory, the resolution for investigation will be reported to the House, and adopted.

Hon. Hugh S. Thompson, the democratic Civil Service Commissioner, has tendered his resignation to Mr. Harrison, to take effect May 15.

Every attempt made by the House to give the Government more power over the national banks, thus adding to their safety as depositories of the people's money, has up to this time been thwarted by the Senate. The bill which was passed by the House a short time ago, prohibiting the borrowing of money by officers of national banks, except by authority of a majority of the bank's directors, which every person familiar with the inside histories of the big national bank failures will acknowledge is a good idea, was promptly saddled with an amendment in the Senate, which it was known that the House would not accept, authorizing the banks to increase their circulation to the full amount of bonds they have deposited in the U. S. Treasury. Which body legislates for the people, and which for the corporations? The House and Senate fairly represent the parties which respectively control them.

Senator Daniel, of Virginia, has introduced an amendment to the Naval appropriation bill, appropriating $300,000 for the expense of the proposed international naval review, to be held in New York hardor and in Hampton Roads in April, 1893, in honor of the opening of the Columbian Exposition at Chicago. The President is directed, as soon as the appropriation becomes a law, to invite foreign nations to participate in the review.

Somebody is doing some very reckless swearing in the Pension Office investigation. Assistant Secretary Bussey flatly contridicted a statement made by Green B. Raum, Jr., and called upon the committee to judge which of them had lied.

Secretary Foster undertook the very difficult task of bolstering up an illegal act—the spending of money received as head tax on immigrants for alleged improvements on Ellis Island—with an opinion from the Attorney General, clearly made to order, and as might have been expected, he made a failure of the job. The alleged opinion is but a lawyer's plea; it justified the authorizing of the expenditure by Assistant Secretary Nettleton on the ground that the late secretary Windom had contemplated if he had not actually done, the same thing; and Congress is asked to accept this as a vindication of Nettleton, but it will not do so. If Nettleton has not resigned before the joint Immigration Committees conclude their investigation of this matter, it is believed that they will recommend his removal, and also that of Superintendent Owen.

Mr. Harrison may find himself in a very awkward predicament, on account of his very remarkable assumption of power in paying an indemnity of $21,000 to Italy out of the State department contingent fund, without consulting Congress at all. This abuse of authority is absolutely without precedent, and Congressmen of both parties are at present inclined to ask awkward questions about it when the Consular and Diplomatic Appropriation bill gets before the House.

The House committee on Rules has been trying to get up some satisfactory method of putting a stop to the printing in the Record of matter entirely foreign to the proceedings of the House such as the entire contents of books and pamphlets, which have been printed therein during the last week; but the matter is a very delicate one, involving privileges of which every member is jealous, and nothing has been agreed upon. The common sense of the members will probably come to the rescue, and stop the abuse of a privilege which in itself is higly desirable,

ANOTHER NEW INDUSTRY.

There is a prospect that another factory will be established in Bloomsburg that will employ about 50 hands. Frank Kendrick, Samuel Coughlin and others of Philadelphia, propose to organize a company to be known as Suber's Patent Roller Bearing Company, with a capital of $20,000. The works will be erected below the canal east of the Brass Tube Works.

J G. Wells will be at Smith's hotel, Jerseytown, on Tuesday, April 26th and at Millville, at Rice's hotel, Thursday, 28th. Eyes examined free of charge, watches, clocks, and jewelry work taken in for repairs.

A Veteran of the Mexican War.

Samuel L. McFadin whose portrait appears above, is a prominent citizen of Logansport, Ind., and one of but seventeen surviving veterans of a company of ninety-two young men who left that city forty-five years ago for the seat of War in Mexico. He now holds the position of Marshall of National Association, and although well advanced in years is still hearty and hale. In writing of his health he says:—I had been troubled for a long time with rheumatism, Kidney and Liver Complaint and could hardly get around. Suffered great pain night and day. After trying many different kinds of medicines and finding no relief, at last through the advice of a friend I purchased Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root from one of our leading Druggists, B. F. Kesling, and must say it has helped me wonderfully, as I now walk without pain.

It is the only medicine that has done me any good, and has been a great benefit in invigorating and building up my system, greatly assisting the liver, kidneys and digestive organs. This is the first recommendation I have ever given a medicine and it affords me pleasure to call the attention of the public to the merits of this wonderful specific. Those who try Swamp-Root have generally first employed the family physician, or used all the prescriptions within their reach without benefit. As a last resort, when their case has become chronic, the symptoms complicated and their constitution run down, then they take this remedy, and it is just such cases and cures that have made Swamp-Root famous and given it a world-wide reputation.

They will visit this county every four weeks, thus saving their patients the trouble and expense of visiting the city, as they are the only physicians and surgeons in this country who carry their own Manikins, Dodels Miagrams, etc. to illustrate and make plain to all afflicted the cause and nature of their disease.

CHRONIC DISEASES.

The Doctors treat no acute diseases, but make an entire specialty of chronic and long standing diseases. Cases given up by other doctors and pronounced incurable, they most desire to see. The Doctors have treated over 15,000 cases in Ohio in the last twelve years, many of which had been given up as incurable, some to be blind, others deaf, and a large number of the invalids for life. But behold! now they See and hear, and many are started on the high road to health and recovery every day.

The doctors are surrounded with the largest collection of fine instruments ever imported to this country for examining and treating all chronic diseases of the HEAD, FACE, EYE, EAR, THROAT, HEART, LUNGS, Stomach, Liver, Kidneys, Bladder, Skin, Brain and Nervous System, Cancers, Tumors, Piles, Swellings Old Sores, Fits, Paralysis, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Dropsy, Gout, Sick Headache, Debility, Depression of Spirits, Diseases of Children, Hereditary Diseases, &c., and in fact, all long-standing and Chronic Diseases.

A WORD ABOUT CATARRH.

It is in the mucous membrane, that wonderful semi-fluid envelope surrounding the delicate tissues of the air and food passages, that catarrh makes its stronghold. Once established it eats into the very vitals, and renders life but a long-drawn breath of misery and disease, dulling the sense of hearing, trammeling the power of speech destroying the faculty of smell, tainting the breath and killing the refined pleasures of taste. Insiduously, by creeping on from a simple cold in the head, it assaults the membranous lining and envelopes the bones, eating through the delicate coats and causing inflammation, sloughing and death. Nothing short of total eradication will secure health to the patient and all alleviaties are simply procrastinated sufferings, lerding to a fatal termination. The Drs. have by a treatment local and constitutional, made the cure of this dread disease a certainty, and has never failed. Even when the disease has made frightful inroads on delicate constitutions hearing, smell and taste have been removed, and the disease thoroughly averted.

They recognize the great principal that genius or talent, or exceptional skill in and profession, is a great public trust to be executed for the greatest good for the greatest number, hence they call your attention to the fact of their visit to your community, and to what you may expect from their treatment. The Doctors have devoted years to the study and treatment of

Chronic and Complicated Diseases,

Which other physicians failed to treat successfully. Those delicate functions of the human frame, whose derangements have for centuries defied human skill, have in many cases yielded to the patient investigation and untiring perseverance of these doctors, and thousands of sufferers from diseases heretofore pronounced incurable, have consulted these gentlemen and been by them restored to health and usefulness

LOGIC, NOT THEORY.

WHY MR. BRYAN'S TARIFF REFORM SPEECH COMMANDED ATTENTION.

He Made No Concession to Protection, and Was Above Resorting to Buncombe. Although a New Member His Time Was Extended from One Hour to Three.

W. J. Bryan, the able young representative of the Nebraska Democracy, succeeded in gaining and holding the attention of the house on the tariff question for three hours. The time allotted to him was one hour, but when that had expired Republicans and Democrats joined in urging him to proceed, and even after he had consumed thrice his allotted hour they shouted to him to go on. This was the more remarkable from the fact that Mr. Bryan is a new member, and his speech of Wednesday was his first on the floor of the house.

So far as one can judge from the brief report of his speech, Mr. Bryan commanded attention not only because he is a pleasing and eloquent speaker, but also because he took a radically right position on the tariff question—a position which could be defended with consistency and irresistible logic. He succeeded because he was master of his subject and scorned to stultify himself by addressing stuff to Buncombe county that was inconsistent with sound doctrine.

It does not appear that Mr. Bryan made any concession to protectionism by saying that grand larceny was wrong and petty larceny right, or that robbery as a chief purpose was wrong and injurious to the victim, while incidental robbery was right and beneficial to the victim. It does not appear that he tolerated in the least the false pretense of the McKinley sophists that "protection" is for the benefit of labor, and that "protective" taxes equal to an unknown difference in wages are necessary for the defense of the workman and the industries of the country.

Regarding this false pretense he quoted the statement made by the high tariff champion, Henry Clay, fifty years ago, that it costs the same to manufacture a yard of flannel in this country that it did in England. He also quoted the statement made by Mr. Blaine in 1881 in an official report to congress that the difference in wages in this country and in England in the cotton manufacturing industry was more than compensated by the greater efficiency and the longer hours of labor of American operatives. He also quoted J. B. Sargent, the head of the greatest shelf hardware manufacturing concern in the country, who was once a protectionist, as saying that while wages are higher in this country than in Europe the actual labor cost of manufacturing hardware is not greater in this country, and that under free trade he could pay the same wages and compete successfully against European manufacturers in the markets of the world. Thus, by the testimony of the great lights of the high tariff party, Mr. Bryan exposed the falseness of the pretense that tariff taxes are necessary to compensate the laborer in America for differences in wages and to maintain the American standard of wages.

Mr. Bryan seems to have planted himself on solid ground from the first, and to have staid there to the last, leaving no weak spots in his defenses through which the McKinleyites could make breaches. No doubt that is one reason why he commanded such close attention. The man who is radically right and who dares to accept the conclusions necessarily following from his right premises always commands attention and respect. Mr. Bryan may be criticised for supporting a bill which provides protection for a class of manufacturers, but he can reply that it is not inconsistent for a hungry man to accept a slice of bread when he can get no more, and that it would be foolish for him to reject the slice because he couldn't get the whole loaf. Or, when a workman cannot collect all the wages due him it is better to accept a part than to go hungry.—Chicago Herald.

The Czar May Go as a Guest.

Ex-Speaker Reed is reported to be engaged in the occupation of setting up the pins for sending himself as a delegate to the Republican national convention. Mr. Blaine's admirers still insist that Mr. Reed shall remain at home. Perhaps a compromise might be arranged so as to allow Mr. Reed to go as a guest. That seems to be the popular caper this year.—Boston Herald.

Candidates in a Pickwickian Sense.

Mr. Alger says he cannot withdraw from the contest for the presidential nomination without "shirking his duty." Well, the withdrawing will be done as painlessly as possible in the convention. Blair, too, means to hold on to his lightning rod till the storm is over.—New York World.

A Possible Claim Disposed Of.

Really and truly, Mr. McKinley did not cause the enormous crops of the past season. Mr. McKinley would be the last man to do anything to prove that there is not a home market for the American farmer.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

They Ought to Be Withdrawn.

Senator Cullom has withdrawn from the presidential race, but his pictures are still appearing in the newspapers. The pictures are really what the senator should withdraw.—New York Advertiser.

A Dangerous Combination.

If Tom Platt and Jerry Rusk are against the administration, the administration has something to fear. Tom and Jerry can floor the opposition if they get on the inside of it.—St. Louis Republic.

From Ocean to Ocean.

Extremes meet—the Democrats have carried Portland, in Maine, and Seattle, in Washington, both Republican cities, by satisfactory majorities.—Philadelphia Record.

TAXES AND PRICES.

The False Reasoning of the Devotees of the Protection Fallacy.

Universal business stagnation has forced down the prices of cotton, wool, iron and other staple articles below the average for many years, and some of the more reckless protectionist journals, willing to impose upon the credulity of their readers, have ascribed the prevailing cheapness to the operation of the McKinley tariff. As the tariff could be of no advantage unless it should increase the price of manufactured stuffs, and as the drop in prices in foreign markets has been concurrent with depreciation here, no one has been deceived into the belief that high tariffs bring low prices except the dupes who are the victims of their own ignorance.

Of this class, evidently, is Mr. J. T. Williams, who writes to The Record from Charlotte, Mich., how much cheaper goods are in 1892 than they were in 1890, and says that he has heard "that cotton ties, now made exclusively in this country of steel, are selling 20 per cent. less than when they were on the free list." Under the tariff of 1883 cotton ties were not free; they paid a duty of 35 per cent. ad valorem. The duty is now 1½ cents per pound on ties in a finished or partly finished state. But Mr. Williams is evidently ready to believe that the process of taxing an article tends to cheapen it, and he is also willing to ascribe to beneficent taxation the effects of overproduction, stagnation and sweeping commercial disaster.

How is it possible to deal with the Williamses and to lift them from the depths of protectionist superstition?—Philadelphia Record.

Not a Statistical Congress.

Our esteemed contemporary, the Philadelphia Telegraph, is disposed to blame the present house of representatives because it hasn't devoted itself to the task of trying to pile up statistics. "What has been done during the winter?" asks this Philadelphia mourner. "What is likely to be done in the immediate future?"

What is necessary to be done except to pass the appropriation bills and keep them down to economical figures? The house will consider the tariff question thoroughly. There has been and will be plenty of discussion. The country is not pining for legislation. In fact, it suffers from too much legislation. But even if under and not over legislation were the rule, the house could accomplish little, the senate and the presidency being in Republican hands.

The house is all right. The country remembers from the example of the billion congress how dangerous, how meddlesome and how expensive is a congress run on the theory that a pile of legislation is a good thing. The more conversation and the less legislation there is in congress, the better, usually, and the cheaper for the people.

The Fifty-second congress is all right.—New York Sun.

High Tariff Is a Fiction.

The Republican campaign managers in Washington are credited with circulating a "tariff novel" as part of a campaign of education. The people, however, have finished their education in that branch of instruction. They know the tariff better than a book. It was appropriate, though, that a work of fiction should have been the chosen means of propagandism.—Exchange.

The Republican Brand of Harmony.

Can it be true that the president is conducting the correspondence in the Behring sea matter because he does not agree with Mr. Blaine? And yet he is insisting on the theory that the Behring sea is closed, while Mr. Blaine abandoned that contention long ago.—New York World.

Where, oh Where?

There is great astonishment all over the republic at the charges of corruption brought against officials of the federal courts in Boston. If Boston Republicans cannot be trusted where are we to look for the right sort?—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Grandfather's Hat or Grandson's Collar?

Editor Halstead suggests that all the delegates to the Minneapolis convention wear faithful copies of grandfather's hat. Is not the Harrison collar a sufficient badge of their political order?—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

Wherein Tracy Is Unavailable.

Secretary Tracy would make a very popular running mate for President Harrison, but his bank account is not quite up to Mr. Morton's. This is where he would fail to meet the emergency.—Boston Herald.

No Barrel, No Nomination.

Vice President Morton seems to be lost to sight politically, though dear to memory. It is said that his campaign subscriptipn in 1888 fell far below party expectation.—New York Advertiser.

The Irony of Fate.

Senator Hoar would no doubt deeply repent his resolution for an inauguration shed were a Democrat president the first to get the benefit of it.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

Mills' Advantage Over Crisp.

One consolation to Mr. Mills, on his return to congress, is that he won't have to be in the same room with Tom Reed and Crisp will.—Columbus (O.) Post.

Wise and Otherwise.

The McKinley tariff is pronounced wise by a tariffite. The people of the country have pronounced it otherwise.—Philadelphia Record.

At Last Protection Pays Something.

"Reciprocity is the homage which prohibitory protection pays to genuine tariff reform." Good for you, Mr. Cleveland.—Boston Herald.

Like the Distinguished General?

HARRISON'S POLITICAL JOBBERY.

The Reward of Judge Woods, Who Shielded "Blocks-of-Five" Dudley.

Judge Woods, of Indiana, the man who shielded Dudley in the nefarious blocks-of-five political game of 1888, has received his reward. President Harrison's appointment of this man to be circuit justice has been confirmed by the senate. But the confirmation was of a character to seal the president's action with the stamp of infamous political jobbery. He had the debt to pay, and hesitating long he at length met the obligation. But when it came to the senate we note with pleasure the unmistakable evidence that a few—a very few, to be sure—of the Republicans of that body entertained a sense of honor that would not bend, even before the ignoble importunities of the administration.

Harrison was in a tight place. A failure of the senate to confirm his appointment would compromise him hopelessly. Something must be done. The matter was accordingly made a strict party measure, the Democrats opposing to a man, and Peffer voted with them. Nor did the administration give a full party vote, several senators absenting themselves, not willing to oppose, but unable to support the measure undertaken by the president.

Where have we else such a spectacle? On what page of our nation's political history is to be found a blot like this? A base and shameless plot for political prestige in a campaign is not alone winked at by the man who owes in part his victory to it, but that same outrage figures afresh at the opening of a new campaign, and we, the American people, are treated to the inspiring spectacle of our nation's chief executive stooping from his high place and, potent through his proud position, rewarding with honors the man who shielded this cowardly crime.

A grand picture this—the principles of political party perverted, the American presidency prostituted to ignoble trickery. The case has had no parallel since the appointment of Wanamaker to a cabinet portfolio in consideration of his raising a campaign fund of $400,000 for the Republican party.—Columbus (O.) Post.

Raum's Refreshing Candor.

If there were no other evidence, Pension Commissioner Raum's own testimony before the investigating committee would abundantly establish the charge that his administration of the pension office has been scandalously partisan and something worse. He openly proclaims that he works the patronage and uses the functionaries of the bureau "for all they are worth" in politics, and, with a pleasing contempt for Mr. Harrison's pretenses of regard for civil service reform methods, proclaims his own defiance of them in the choice of subordinates for work. If Mr. Harrison had a wise regard for his own political interests he would have rid himself of Raum many months ago.—New York World.

A Weak Dependence.

Senator Cullom has withdrawn from what he believed was the presidential race, with a recommendation in favor of President Harrison. But as the senator was not really in the race, notwithstanding his views on that point, his withdrawal leaves no gap and his recommendation is not of great potency. If Mr. Harrison proposes to base his claim to the nomination on the fact that Cullom has swung over to him, we greatly fear his title is defective.—New York Commercial Advertiser.

In the same breath wherewith General Alger declares himself a candidate for the Republican nomination for the presidency he rules himself out. He says he will not open his barrel at Minneapolis. Not open his barrel, forsooth! He might as well not have opened his mouth. Without his barrel his relevancy to the nomination would be a myth, a mist, a mizzle, a Michigan nightmare!—Philadelphia Record.

Robbing Peter to Pay Paul.

According to the gleeful organs the McKinley law has turned Old World workingmen out to starve. We must be sending them flour and grain to avert the dreadful calamity. It would seem quite as well for all concerned if these workingmen were able to buy our farmers' grain. The policy of starving one's customers is not a large and wise one.—Toledo Bee.

No Inspiration in That Gonfalon.

The Brooklyn Standard-Union is the only newspaper in the land to adopt Grandfather's Hat as a campaign symbol. It carries the hat at its masthead and it must be said that, as a gonfalon, it is neither picturesque nor potent.—New York Advertiser.

Working Upward.

And so Prince Russell B. Harrison has been formally admitted into the press gallery in Washington. This illustrates what intelligence, perseverance and industry will accomplish for a young man in this land of the free.—Boston Herald.

Whence and Whither.

Ex-Governor Campbell, of Ohio, now speaking in Rhode Island, says he would like to know where the money that beat him came from. A question of equal interest to all good citizens is where it went to.—St. Louis Republic.

"It Is Not the Coat," Etc.

Mr. Harrison should look with leniency on the man who wears a cheap coat. Many a man's wages have been reduced since Mr. McKinley's bill became a law.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

An Involuntary Retirement.

Senator Cullom says "he has not withdrawn from the presidential race." The race it was that withdrew.—Columbus (O.) Post.

Why Harrison Is So Bellicose.

If Mr. Harrison can get up a war he thinks he will be able to get all the delegates.—Atlanta Constitution.

NERO.

We treat now of the greatest monster of any age, Nero. Emperor meant then, Imperator, the commander of the armies, and they became superior to the Senate. The reason that Nero could commit so many enormities with impunity the armies were under his absolute control. His mother was an evil minded woman Agrippina. She was a sister of Caligula, another monster who was the reigning emperor when Nero was born. The terrible reign of Caligula produced his assassination. Claudius, the uncle of Caligula, was an imbecile, and assumed reign. The boy Nero was active, intelligent and of attractive appearance but his wicked mother left him adrift without control. Claudius was poisoned by his physician through the artifice of Agrippina, his wife. Nero then became Emperor at the age of 17, but the mother was the real ruler for a term of years. But the time came when Nero determined to rule himself and his mother should not interfere. His half brother, the rightful heir to the throne should be poisoned, which was done; Brittannicus was his name. Agrippina was not long afterward assassinated. The extreme depravity of Nero was now becoming manifest.

He was a rowdy in the streets and traveled with the thugs of the city, maltreating, insulting and abusing passers by. A Roman senator gave him a sound thrashing in the streets for insulting his wife. Nero got divorce from his wife, Octavia, and married a depraved woman Poppaea. Soon after Nero banished Octavia from the city, and next thing had her murdered. During his whole reign Nero spent the public money remorselessly and made no improvements.

He was great on showing himself an actor and singer. Actors and singers in those days were below par. He went through all sorts of training, visited Greece with his banjo, and had big times. It is said he burned out a great part of Rome, at least some of his confidential slaves were seen going from house to house with torches and setting fire to them. It was supposed the conflagration proved larger than he intended and that some buildings around the palace were to be burned to enlarge the palace.

He pretended there was a great conspiracy against him and he, accordingly, had people murdered. Burrhus, his chief general, and Seneca his Secy. of state, the great historian, were among the number. It is hard to know whether the conspiracy was genuine or not.

Nero's end was fast approaching. Everything was closed against him. His soldiers forsook him and joined Galba who was commander of the forces in Spain. He had no friends; all Rome was against him. He deserted the city to the house of Phaon, was secreted there for a time. He tried to kill himself, but cowardice prevailed. Another took the dagger and killed him, and the soldiers hunting for him conveyed the remains to Rome. Galba took the throne A. D. 17.

E. J. B.

It is proposed to call a meeting shortly either in Philadelphia or Harrisburg of all the Congressional delegates from the auxiliary societies on women's work in connection with the World's Fair Commission. The meeting will probably be held next month, its object being to familiarize the women with the work delegated to them and to systematize the entire State organization. Indiana County alone will have no voice in these proceedings and thereby hangs a tale

Last Fall when the auxiliary societies were being appointed in each county a prominent gentleman in Indiana County was invited to name "at least five women and a few more if he desired" to aid the Women' State Committee in that place. The zealous individual went to work with a will and soon forwarded to Harrisburg a list of 100 names. When he was courteously informed that the list was too large for practical purposes he became exceedingly angry and refused to cut it down. Therefore, Indiana County is not in it so far as auxiliary societies are concerned.

The Quay Flood-Tide.

The altogether one-sided popular votes in the various counties in favor of Senator Quay's re-election are becoming monotonous. On Saturday Lancaster swung into the Quay line by a vote of more than three to one, and such an emphatic indorsement from the Old Guard comes with stunning force in response to the Quay triumphs in the Western counties.

In addition to Lancaster, Quay scored victories on Saturday in Juniata, Butler, Venango, Westmoreland, Mercer and Indiana. It now seems reasonably certain that Dalzell will receive no direct party expressions for Senate outside of Allegheny county, and with the Quay flood-tide that is now sweeping over the State, and the earnestness with which the active party workers espouse his cause, it is not entirely certain that Allegheny can be held to a square support of Dalzell.

As a contestant for the party nomination for United States Senator, Mr. Dalzell is now practically distanced—knocked clear outside the ring. In neither politics nor war can warriors be held in line for utterly hopeless battles; and in the emphatic expressions already given for Quay wherever there has been an issue on the Senatorship, the result has been not only a victory for Quay, but a rout of the supporters of Dalzell.

That there is a large and intelligent element in the Republican party of Pennsylvania that earnestly opposes Quay's re-election to the Senate, is not doubted by any dispassionate observer of political movements; but it is without organization; it is untrained in the machine methods which win political victories these days, and they are powerless in a contest at the primaries against a superbly organized and disciplined army that quickly responds to the call of party masters. This element holds in its hands the control of the Legislature, as it could readily turn he election of legislators in one-third or more of the districts in the State; but the white heat of a Presidential contest will strengthen the feeble and resolve the doubting in favor of party obligations.

The issue on the Senatorship in Pennsylvania is now clearly narrowed down to the support of Quay or revolution, and all parties in interest may as well look the facts squarely in the face. In 1885 Quay appealed to the Republican people for vindication as a candidate for State Treasurer, and he was sustained by a majority of 40,000. Now, for the first time in the history of modern politics, he has appealed directly to the Republican people at the primaries for vindication as a Senator, and thus far he has had an unbroken succession of triumphs. If the people shall elect the Senators and Representatives thus instructed for Quay, he will be given the highest right to claim his re-election as demanded by clearly expressed party sentiment, and none within the party household could justly criticise the Legislature for renewing his Senatorial Commission. Such are the cold facts relating to the contest for Senator, and with the foes of Quay it is now simply a question of submission or rebellion. —Times.

THE BEST APERIENT

In modern pharmacy is, undoubtedly, Ayer's Cathartic Pills. Except in extreme cases, physicians have abandoned the use of drastic purgatives, and recommend a milder, but no less effective medicine. The favorite is Ayer's Pills, the superior medicinal virtues of which have been certified to under the official seals of state chemists, as well as by hosts of eminent doctors and pharmacists. No other pill so well supplies the demand of the general public for a safe, certain, and agreeable family medicine.

"Ayer's Pills are the best medicine I ever used; and in my judgment no better general remedy was

Ever Devised

I have used them in my family and caused them to be used among my friends and employes for more than twenty years. To my certain knowledge many cases of the following complaints have been completely and permanently cured by the use of Ayer's Pills alone: Third day chills, dumb ague, bilious fever, sick headache, rheumatism, flux, dyspepsia, constipation, and hard colds. I know that a moderate use of Ayer's Pills, continued for a few days or weeks, as the nature of the complaint required, would be found an absolute cure for the disorders I have named above."—J. O. Wilson, Contractor and Builder, Sulphur Springs, Texas.

"For eight years I was afflicted with constipation, which at last became so bad that the doctors could do no more for me. Then I began to take and soon the bowels recovered their natural and regular action, so that now I am in excellent health."—Wm. H. DeLaucett, Dorset, Ontario.

"Ayer's Pills are the best cathartic I ever used in my practice."—J. T. Sparks, M. D., Yeddo, Ind.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD,
Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,
Conway, Ark.

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."
H. A. ARCHER, M. D.,
111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Dr. J. B. Neal gave an interesting talk before the Y. M. C. A. last Sunday afternoon on the subject of the customs and habits of the Chinese. The Dr. referred more especially to their practice of surgery. The climate of the Chinese is almost similar to that of our own country. They have fruit in abundance, except peaches. The Dr. expects to have a college erected by the time he returns. He has graduated a number of medical students who go out practicing medicine after our custom and who are also taught the Christain religion, that they may spread it among those whom they visit in their practice of medicine.

HORSE FANCIERS are specially invited to attend the public sale at Espy, near Bloomburg, at the house of the late M. Q. White, on Friday, April 22, 1892 at 10 o'clock A. M., at which time will be sold a bay mare, 4 years old, bred by Mercury, trotted as a 3-year-old in 2:55; also several fine yearlings bred by the same sire. These extra fine animals are offered to discriminating purchasers because of the death of their late owner. 15t

Don't fail to see "Si Plunkard," the laughing cyclone. Si brings with him a band all dressed up as farmers, they are the pride of Fairview, and Si's idea of a band. He says he can lead them right down the middle of the road, mud knee deep, and all they have to do is to tuck their trousers inside their boots. Don't fail to see and hear him.

Would you rather buy lamp chimneys, one a week the year round, or one that lasts till some accident breaks it?

Common glass may break or not the minute you light your lamp; if not, the first draft may break it; if not, it may break from a mere whim.

Tough glass chimneys, Macbeth's "Pearl-top" or "Pearl-glass," almost never break from heat, not one in a hundred.

Where can you get it? and what does it cost?

Your dealer knows where and how much. It costs more than common glass; and may be, he thinks tough glass isn't good for his business.
